Inspired By The Impossible

Jacob & Co. is driven by an unyielding spirit of creativity and a relentless pursuit of the extraordinary. From his humble beginnings, founder Jacob Arabo has defied convention, transforming imagination into icons and ambition into artistry. Born in Tashkent and raised in Queens, New York, Jacob's fascination with design and time began early, guiding him from a jewellery apprentice to a visionary creator who would redefine luxury watchmaking and high jewellery. In 1986, he launched Jacob & Co., quickly establishing a reputation for bold, boundary-breaking creations that captured the world's attention. Jacob's journey has been marked by innovation and audacity. In 2002, he introduced the Five Time Zone watch. This vibrant, multi-time-zone masterpiece became a cultural touchstone and was embraced by global icons including Naomi Campbell, Bono and Derek Jeter. He went on to create horological marvels such as the Quenttin, the world's first vertical tourbillon with an unprecedented 31-day power reserve, and the celestial Astronomia Tourbillon, a rotating universe on the wrist that reimaged what a timepiece could be.

Over the decades, Jacob & Co. has collaborated with world-famous ambassadors, including Donnie Yen, Milla Jovovich and Cristiano Ronaldo, and introduced technically groundbreaking collections like the Epic SF24 and the Twin Turbo series. Across jewellery and watchmaking, Jacob's creations have stood at the intersection of innovation, craftsmanship and culture, coveted by celebrities, tastemakers and collectors worldwide. With each design, he continues to push the boundaries of what is possible, embodying a legacy of imagination made real.
